

Harper's crime policy for Canada: Guaranteed to fail!

The Harper government is trying to pass legislation that would impose mandatory prison sentences on non-violent drug offenders (Bill S-10).

Even though mandatory minimum sentences have proven disastrous in the United States, Stephen Harper is recklessly determined to repeat that same mistake in Canada!

Here's what the U.S. learned about mandatory minimum sentences (MMS):

1. MMS do not deter crime or increase public safety
2. MMS disproportionately impact minorities, students and the drug dependent
3. MMS overflow prisons and cost taxpayers billions for prison expansion

Is Bill S-10 a disaster in the making?
